Monday 19th April

LO: to infer

Look at this illustration on the front cover of our new book. You are going to make inferences using this illustration.

- What do you think will happen?
- Does it remind you of any other stories?
- Where do you think it is set?
- Where do you think the people are going?
- What are they carrying?
- What is the child thinking?
- How is the child feeling? What makes you think this?
- What may have happened to the building?
- What do you think the title of the book is?

Now we are going to make a mind-map with our ideas around the illustration.

I think that they will find a new home although it will be difficult.

I think the people are trying to find a new house for their house is being destroyed.

The people look like they are going on a long journey because they are carrying their belongings.

The broken building might indicate that something bad has happened.

I predict they are alone looking for a new home if they make it.

You do

What do you think will happen?

Does it remind you of any other stories?

Where do you think it is set?

Where do you think the people are going?

What are they carrying?

What is the child thinking?

How is the child feeling? What makes you thir

What may have happened to the building?

What do you think the title of the book is?

We do

Answer the questions on your whiteboards

What do you think will happen?

Does it remind you of any other stories?

Where do you think it is set?

Where do you think the people are going?

What are they carrying?

What is the child thinking?

How is the child feeling? What makes you think this?

What may have happened to the building?

What do you think the title of the book is?

We do

Answer the questions on your whiteboards

You do

Write short paragraphs to infer using the picture. You need to use conjunctions in your writing.

What do you think will happen?

Does it remind you of any other stories?

Where do you think it is set?

Where do you think the people are going?

What are they carrying?

What is the child thinking?

How is the child feeling? What makes you think this?

What may have happened to the building?

What do you think the title of the book is?