I do

As soon as I started at Roe Head, I made friends with the lovely Ellen Nussey and we became inseparable. At night, we (along with our other dear friend Mary Taylor) imagined a ghostly lady prowling the corridor as we heard spine-tingling rustling noises on the staircases. After I left Roe Head, Ellen continued to be a close friend of mine and she came to visit the parsonage in 1833. Whilst here, we showed her our favourite place on the moor: the meeting of the waters. Fortunately Ellen loved nature too; she enjoyed Emily pointing out the birds and building stepping stones across the river with Branwell. My favourite memory with Ellen is of when we visited Bolton Abbey (using our pocket money to hire a carriage) before she returned back home. As you can see, Ellen and I were certainly close friends!
