PSHE: Communicating with friends

LO: To know how to stay safe when communicating with friends online.

We all have lots of different relationships in our lives.

Draw lines coming off of the circle below naming as many relationships as you can think of from your own life.

Sometimes you might talk to your friends and family online.

The Internet can be used to keep in touch with our friends who have moved far away.

However, sometimes a stranger might want to talk to you online.

Don't worry, you can still complete today's lesson if you can't watch the video.

It is important that we do not speak to people online who we have not met in person because we have no way to know that they are who they say they are.

Do you think being able to talk to anyone, anywhere is a good or bad thing?

You can talk to people with the same interests.

You are able to buy and sell things to anyone.

You don't always know if people are who they say.

You can make friends all over the world.

You can support other people's ideas and work.

You can talk to people you'd never meet in real life.

Anyone can send you anything and it might be something you don't like.

People think because they'll never meet you, they can be rude.

Is there a difference between how people talk in real life and online?
Look at these comments on an online post and vote to show if you would say them in real life.

In real life, we couldn't imagine strangers saying unkind things
about something we did.

If you wouldn't say it in real life, don't say it online

Who Am I?

Maisie is chatting to a friend she's met online. She's a 12 year old girl who lives in West London and goes to a school called Rosebank Secondary. Here's their conversation:

How old is Jas719?

Is Jas719 a boy?

What is Jas719's real name?

Where does Jas719 live?

Can you describe what Jas719 looks like?

How do you know?

MaisieMoo12:

Hi nice to meet you.

Jas719:

Hey.

MaisieMoo12:

What's your name? Age?

Jas719:

Jack, I'm 13. Where do you live?
I live in Brighton.

MaisieMoo12:

I'm in London. Do you have a photo so I know what you look like?

Jas719:

I'll send you one later. I have brown hair and eyes and I'm quite tall I suppose.

We have no real way of knowing who Jas719 is because Maisie has never met him in the real world.

Maisie has shared personal information with a stranger.

What is it safe to talk about online?

What Can We Talk About?

Safe to talk about online

- Favourite subject at school
- What your hobby is
- How many brothers and sisters you have
- What you did at the weekend
- Your friends (without names)
- Your teachers (without names)
- Your favourite TV show

Unsafe to talk about online

- Your date of birth
- Which school you go to
- Where you do your hobbies
- Home address
- Your full name
- Your parents' full names
- The town/city you live in
- Where you went at the weekend.

If online, use the high lighter tool to complete.

Use a red pencil to circle or colour the topics that might be unsafe to discuss online. Think about why certain topics of conversation might be unsafe. Use a green pencil to circle or colour the safe topics of conversation to have with an online friend.

Complete the tick sheet.
