

Friday 19th March 2021

English: Hidden Figures

LO: To examine the use of emotive language in a non-fiction text.

Capital letters?

Presentation?

Silly copying mistakes?

Full sentences?

Incomplete
work?

5 minutes of purple pen to make improvements.

Read up until Russia create the Sputnik. You will be reading about Katherine Johnson.

You need to write a short summary of this section in your books.

Now read until John Glenn returns home safely.

On flipchart/whiteboard make notes on some of the emotive language the author has used in these four pages.

With your partner try to rewrite two sentences from the first paragraph (Sputnik) up-levelling the vocabulary to include some more emotive language.

Write these on your whiteboards. When you are done we will discuss and write together on the flipchart paper. You can then write this in your books.

We
Do

In 1957, Russia pioneered a Satellite called Sputnik. They launched Sputnik into orbit to discover new and fascinating facts from Space. The United States also began creating Satellites to investigate Space.

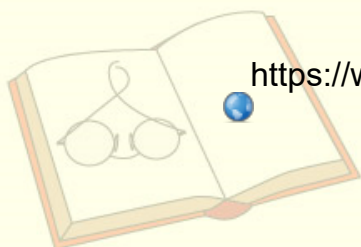

Now that you know how to uplevel and write emotive language, try to summarise the rest of the pages we have read today using emotive language.
You should aim for 2-3 paragraphs (1 full page)

You
Do

If you are finished you can listen to the story being read by the illustrator.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H1V8NcvSy9Q>

Class discussion: What are the key points of Hidden Figures?

Write these on flip chart paper to be displayed on learning wall.

