Friday

Today we are completing a writing assessment in school. We would like you to think about everything you have learnt over the past few weeks to write your very own short story.

Here are some ideas to help you to get started.

Once you have completed your story remember to email it to us. We would love to read it!