LO: To use my observations of tone and texture to create an image with depth.

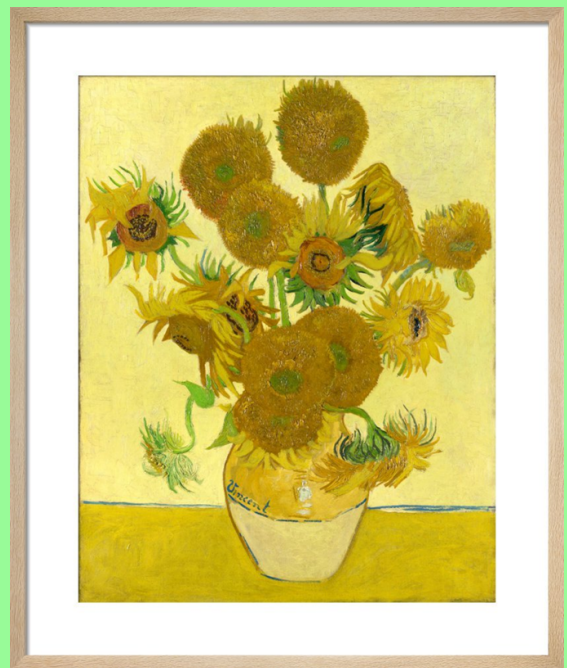

Today, we will use our observational skills to re-create a famous piece of artwork.

This painting is called 'Sunflowers' and it's by a very famous artist named Vincent Van Gogh.

*Look closely at this image. What textures and tone
can you see?*

We are going to be doing our picture without colour, so I have changed the image into black and white, and given you a copy.

Just like when we did our nature
drawings, I want you to use your observational
skills to copy this picture and use
tone and texture
throughout.
