

Monday 30th November

LO: To retrieve key information from a nonfiction text

Brief outline:

An information text about smells and where they come from.

Glossary:

belch - burp

bitter - sharp taste and not sweet crevices - tiny opening on your skin crucial - very important dissolving - turn into a liquid foul - sticky

fragrance - sweet and pleasant smell glands - organ which makes substances for your body.

influence - affect something or someone odour - smell

perspiration - when you sweat trigger - cause you to do something

Questions:

What new fact did you find out about your body?
What surprises you about the power of smell?

Tuesday 1st December

LO: To retrieve key information from a nonfiction text

I DO: Where does body odour come from?

WE DO: What gives you bad breath?

YOU DO: How much sweat do your feet produce?

YOU DO: How do you know if you have kidney problems?

YOU DO: What is Phantosmia?

YOU DO: Why is sweat crucial?

Wednesday 2nd December

LO: To retrieve key information from a nonfiction text

I DO: Why is smell described as Cinderella?

WE DO: Why is smell important to animals?

YOU DO: Why is stomach acid important?

YOU DO: Why does smell influence memories?

YOU DO: Why do stores release positive scents?

YOU DO: Why can you not taste for without smelling?

Thursday 3rd December

LO: To summarise the key information in the text.

Smell

Friday 4th December

LO: To break down the sentence structure

Who? What? Where? When? Why? How? Conjunctions

I DO: Every person has a natural scent of their own that comes from gas released by tiny mites and bacteria.

YOU DO: scientific studies have shown that certain scents can make some people feel calmer, more optimistic or more alert so companies design and release fragrances in stores to encourage positive feelings that make customers stay longer and spend more.

