

Friday

Today we are starting to plan our own story. Think back to yesterday when we were looking at different story characters and different settings, can you design your own character and story setting?

You can look back to yesterdays work to give you some ideas.