Migratory History of Bradford

This timeline of Bradford's migratory history includes reference to:

1. Regional migration within Great Britain e.g. from Devon or Scotland to Yorkshire (the first nineteenth century mayor of Bradford was a Scottish merchant)
2. Migration within the British Isles e.g. from Ireland to Great Britain (Irish migrant workers lived in some of Bradford's worst slums during the cities' industrial expansion)
3. Migration from outside the British Isles e.g. from Germany or South Asia (Germans and German Jews helped to build up Victorian Trade and Pakistani workers helped keep declining textile mills open in the 1960s and 1970s)

Name the different countries where people emigrated from.

Explain how the population changed over time.

Who could not get jobs in the mills? Why was this?

What was the name of the German Jewish merchant? Where did he open his factory?

Name two types of jobs that Germans and German Jews might have had.

Who was Antonio Fattorini?

What was the name of Bradford's first Asian Lord Mayor?
