

Thursday 13th May

LO: To use the apostrophe for possession

Thursday 13th May

LO: To use the apostrophe for possession

Starter

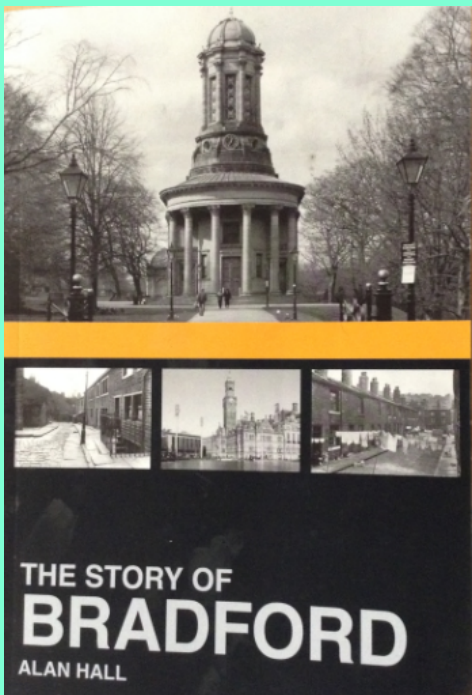

Add suitable determiners back into these sentences:

_____ healthy salad makes a delicious and nutritious lunch.

Why not add _____ egg for extra protein?

For a healthy dessert, try adding _____ pot of natural yoghurt to _____ fresh fruit.

Starter

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=b4wHZcif18U>

Write your own sentences using its

it's

I do

Highlight the singular possessive apostrophe in yellow, the plural possessive apostrophe in green and the apostrophe for contraction in pink.

Here is a story about an immigrant's life. Her name is Annemarie Young. Annemarie's account is not uncommon.

My grandparents were immigrants or the children of immigrants and so were my parents. My mother's mother and her family moved from St Petersburg to Odessa in Russia and then to Alexandria and Cairo in Egypt. My father's mother went from Naples in Italy to Cairo while his father was born in Cairo, son of a Scottish train driver and Greek mother. My parents, both born in Cairo, emigrated to Australia in 1949. It's sometimes hard to live in a different country because people may treat you differently. My parents' lives were spent travelling from one place to another but I only left Australia in my mid 20s when I came to live in Cambridge in the U.K. As a child and a teenager I wasn't very sure about my identity.

We do

Highlight the singular possessive apostrophe in yellow, the plural possessive apostrophe in green and the apostrophe for contraction in pink.

Here is a story about an immigrant's life. Her name is Annemarie Young. Annemarie's account is not uncommon.

My grandparents were immigrants or the children of immigrants and so were my parents. My mother's mother and her family moved from St Petersburg to Odessa in Russia and then to Alexandria and Cairo in Egypt. My father's mother went from Naples in Italy to Cairo while his father was born in Cairo, son of a Scottish train driver and Greek mother. My parents, both born in Cairo, emigrated to Australia in 1949. It's sometimes hard to live in a different country because people may treat you differently. My parents' lives were spent travelling from one place to another but I only left Australia in my mid 20s when I came to live in Cambridge in the U.K. As a child and a teenager I wasn't very sure about my identity.

You do

Highlight the singular possessive apostrophe in yellow, the plural possessive apostrophe in green and the apostrophe for contraction in pink.

Here is a story about an immigrant's life. Her name is Annemarie Young. Annemarie's account is not uncommon.

My grandparents were immigrants or the children of immigrants and so were my parents. My mother's mother and her family moved from St Petersburg to Odessa in Russia and then to Alexandria and Cairo in Egypt. My father's mother went from Naples in Italy to Cairo while his father was born in Cairo, son of a Scottish train driver and Greek mother. My parents, both born in Cairo, emigrated to Australia in 1949. It's sometimes hard to live in a different country because people may treat you differently. My parents' lives were spent travelling from one place to another but I only left Australia in my mid 20s when I came to live in Cambridge in the U.K. As a child and a teenager I wasn't very sure about my identity.

We do

Write the rule for using the possessive apostrophe.

Explain how the rule is different for singular and plural.

 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zNFPnVz7JB4>

 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gubPH3WEurg>

You do

Write the rule for using the possessive apostrophe.

Explain how the rule is different for singular and plural.