The poem uses personification.

What does personification mean?

Personification gives a personal nature or human characteristic to something that is non-human or non-living.

Personification is used in poetry to give greater meaning and description, and it also gives the reader a reference to compare to.

Some examples of personification:

The teapot sang as the water boiled.

The leaves on the ground danced in the wind.

The alarm clock yelled at me to get up this morning.

LO: To plan.

Use a mind-map to brainstorm your idea.
1. Choose a place you really like, it could be your home or somewhere you've been on holiday.
2. Think of things you remember about your place.
3. Describe them using adjectives.
4. Try to use alliteration and personification in your plan.

I do

When I am far away, I think of exquisite Newquay.
I remember battered driftwood, proud shells and brave surfers,
I recall children's sheer determination to catch crafty crabs,
I recollect how the sea is a tranquil mouse or a foaming monster,
I memorise changing tides, clever seals and constant waves,
When I am far away, I think of exquisite Newquay.
